The Ladbrokes Tasmanian Summer Racing Carnival is a success story.

Apart from focusing national attention on Tasmanian thoroughbred racing, the race days and support for social events are important direct and indirect contributors to the State's economy.

Tasracing and the host clubs – the Devonport Racing Club, Tasmanian Racing Club and Tasmanian Turf Club – are to be congratulated for putting together what I am sure will be a successful Carnival in 2020.

It will be tremendously exciting to see the 2020 Ladbrokes Hobart Cup run on the all-new Strathayr track. It is an outstanding achievement by Tasracing, Tasmania's own internationally-renowned Strathayr business and the entire project team to replace an entire race track and have it race-ready within 12 months.

I welcome a major new partner, Ladbrokes, to Tasmanian racing. This is the first year they will be the naming rights partner for the entire Carnival including the Devonport, Hobart and Launceston Cups.

I wish all owners, trainers, jockeys and stable staff the best of luck for the 2020 Ladbrokes' Tasmanian Summer Racing Carnival. And finally, I hope the many thousands that attend a Summer Racing Carnival event have an enjoyable time and perhaps even pick a winner!

Hon Elise Archer MP
Minister for Racing

Ladbrokes is delighted to be the official wagering partner of the Tasmanian racing industry across all three codes, and proud to be the naming rights sponsor of the Ladbrokes Tasmanian Summer Racing Carnival.

The Ladbrokes Tasmanian Summer Racing Carnival is an iconic, unmissable mix of racing, entertainment, fashion and social events.

As one of the world's longest running, and most iconic wagering brands we are proud to be associated with the Tasmanian thoroughbred industry – one of the oldest and proudest in Australia.

For over 100 years the three Tasmanian thoroughbred Cup days have helped form the sporting and social fabric of the state.

With its picturesque racing venues, outstanding trackside entertainment and quality racing – it is no wonder the Ladbrokes Tasmanian Summer Racing Carnival has become a must-do event for many Australian racing fans.

The carnival begins in Devonport on 6 December with the Ladbrokes Golden Mile and finishes with the Ladbrokes Launceston Cup on 26 February.

Good luck and best wishes for an excellent Ladbrokes Tasmanian Summer Racing Carnival.

WAYNE ROSER

REAPING REWARDS BEYOND HIS WILDEST DREAMS

Story by Peter Staples

WAYNE ROSER has been riding the crest of a wave that he never thought possible when he first started investing in thoroughbreds 11 years ago.

Having had moderate success with his first dabble as a joint shareholder in a horse called Not Guilty, his decision to branch out on his own and settle on Spreyton-based trainer Adam Trinder has reaped rewards beyond his wildest dreams.

In March this year, just over two years after he purchased a yearling by Needs Further from a modestly performed broodmare White Gold, the filly won the Group 1 Australian Guineas (1600m) and a couple of weeks later she delivered a career best effort to win the inaugural $5 million All-Star Mile.

In just those two outings the filly's efforts sent $2.426 million into his bank account.

At the time of this publication going to press, Mystic Journey had won 11 times from 15 starts for career stake earnings of $3.5 million.

Not bad spoils for a horse that cost a paltry $11,000 at the 2017 Tasmanian Magic Millions Yearling sale.

But at the time of purchase Roser was feeling the pinch as an owner, having committed to buying a number of yearlings that year and with a stable full of horses that at the time were performing moderately.

In this game an owner has to be prepared to take the good with the bad or in more sensitive terms - the slowest with the fastest.

"Before Mystic Journey I've had some slow ones that are now performing well at pony club events," Roser said.

"I've learned over the years that this is not a game for the faint hearted.

"Everyone goes into buying racehorses with the same objectives and that is the hope they make the racetrack and that they can win a race or two to pay their way.

"But it's hard, bloody hard and there were times when I thought that I might have to rethink my involvement.

"I can recall a two-year-old race in Hobart on New Year's Eve 2017 and we had Mystic Journey and Magic Whaler in the same 2YO race and we thought Magic Whaler was our best winning chance.

"I recall saying to the rider of Mystic Journey, Anthony Darmanin, that we were desperately in need of a winner and I wasn't telling a fib.

"Mystic Journey won and Magic Whaler ran a creditable third but I felt something that day that was a bit different to any other win to which I'd been associated."

Image: Valiant Warrior - Magic Millions Yearling Sale

"It was when Mystic Journey was coming back to the mounting yard and something came over me that I'd never experienced before. It passed but I remembered the feeling."

That was, pardon the pun, the start of Roser's mystical journey that has taken him to the top of the tree as an owner and on the verge of anxiously awaiting the outcome of the 2019 Cox Plate in which his beloved "Betty" is favourite.

Roser's first good horse was Valiant Warrior, another Tasmanian yearling sale buy that was more than just a good money spinner for the likeable owner.

Valiant Warrior was named in honour of Roser's first grandchild who tragically didn't survive to see his first birthday.

His grandchild fought to stay alive and so it was fitting that Valiant Warrior lived up to his name and went on to win 10 races from 36 starts for almost $250,000 in prizemoney.

Valiant Warrior also gave Roser his first Victorian metropolitan winner after the gelding won at Moonee Valley.

"Valiant Warrior was a very special horse to me for many reasons but in particular why he was so named."

During his working life Roser was a battler who left school at the age of 14 and did many things to earn a living, which was a grounding that was to serve him well in the horse racing world.

With an analytical brain and a deep desire to become the best he possibly could, Roser took himself off to night school and that led to high enough marks for him to be accepted into the Australian National University where he studied law.

He worked in a service station at night to help pay his way through university.

Roser eventually passed the bar exam and as a solicitor, opened his own practice in Martin Place, Sydney.

He went on to become one of the most successful and influential barristers in New South Wales. His ability to deal with the pressure that goes with handling high-profile cases became a handy skill.

"Being able to deal with the pressures of being a racehorse owner all comes back to my professional background.

"I call on experiences I had in a different environment and that allows me to handle stress or tension better than some others but it all comes down to self-confidence."

Roser's confidence around a sale ring, or in delivering an acceptance speech, (something to which he has become accustomed thanks to Mystic Journey's feats), didn't come to him by accident.

It comes from his experience in successfully defending high-profile criminals and heading up cases for the prosecution in some of the biggest cases that played out in courts around Australia.

Roser, as senior counsel for the Commonwealth Department of Public Prosecution, made the headlines over his prosecution of Federal Court judge Marcus Enfield.

He also defended one of the major players in the Milperra Bikie Massacre in the early 1980s.

"In my other life I suppose my time defending or prosecuting ended up at a ratio of about 50-50."

He has no secret to finding his Group 1 horse but he insists the best way to give yourself that chance is to associate with professionals and he says Trinder and his partner, former top jockey, Leah Goodrick, both wear that tag.

"As we wander through life we meet people and assess them to see whether they fit into your culture.

"You inadvertently strike up a relationship based on first impressions and that's how Adam and my relationship started."

When Roser attends a yearling sale he knows that all the ground work has been done by Trinder and Goodrick.

"I'm quite calm when a horse that we have marked to buy goes under the hammer.

"I know all the ground work has been done by the ones who know what they are looking for and all I have to do is agree to buy the horse.

"We have missed some horses we were keen to buy because they have passed the price Adam had placed on them but we haven't missed many."

Adam and I have a very similar personality in that we are both very loyal to people unless they do something adverse to us and we definitely don't listen to what other people say."

"In this racing game everyone has an opinion, so it is very important that neither of us get involved with what we call outside noise."

Roser says his involvement with Trinder is both business and personal.

"I employ Adam as a trainer and I have total confidence in decisions he makes concerning my horses, so I don't interfere with that process at all, other than to say we discuss things from time to time.

"But on a more personal level the relationship between Adam and I is probably a bit deeper than being just based on business.

After having spent over a decade racing horses with Trinder as his trainer, Roser is looking forward to at least another decade of the same, although finding another Mystic Journey could prove the ultimate challenge.

"Mystic Journey is definitely one out of the box but in life you should always expect the unexpected.

"I am holding onto the hope that another Mystic Journey could be just around the corner, maybe at next year's Tasmanian yearling sale."

TEAM BRUNTON

Story by Peter Staples

Scott Brunton ... A successful trainer with nine Tasmanian Trainers premierships (including four in partnership with his father and five in his own right).

After 30 years of honing his craft, Scott reveals the highs and lows of being a trainer, running a business, and how his family and team are responsible for helping him achieve his goals.

"The horses will come and go but family is forever."
Scott Brunton

Family and team members form the backbone of Brunton Racing

PREMIER Tasmanian trainer Scott Brunton has earned a reputation as a bit of a larrikin and knockabout bloke who speaks his mind and often lets his emotions get the better of him.

But exposure on the national stage through the efforts of stable stars such as Hellova Street, Mandela Effect and more recently The Inevitable, Brunton is learning to curb the enthusiasm and deliver a more focused side of his character in front of the media.

“I’m a person who prefers to tell it as it is, rather than hedge around the edges, but it got to the point where I needed to evaluate what my words and actions were doing to my business,” Brunton said.

“I don’t apologise for who I am and never will, but it was just a case of being more mindful of who I am talking to and who is listening.”

With that aside, Brunton is a master horseman who has spent over 30 years honing his craft and learning from many of the best horsemen in Australia, most of all his dad, Dave Brunton.

He shared a training partnership with David that resulted in four Tasmanian trainer’s premierships and he has delivered five consecutive titles in his own right.

But in the past three years Brunton has endured hardships of which few would be aware.

Battling against diminishing self-confidence and a business that was under pressure financially, the talented trainer came close to walking away.

But through a strong support base and advice from a couple of astute businessmen, he emerged on the right side of the fence and steered his life and his business in the right direction.

The appointment of Neil Walsh as the stable’s racing manager was a big step forward and acquiring a professional accounting firm to run the books moulded the business’s finances into shape.

Jessie Bazan is Brunton’s second in charge at the stables and she keeps things rolling whenever Brunton needs to travel interstate with horses racing on the mainland.

“Nobody knows what I went through and nobody needs to know, but there was a time, about three years ago, when I thought I would just give it all away and do something else with my life.

“But thankfully I had some great people there to help me through it and many of those people are still by my side.

“I have a great bunch of people working at the stable at Seven Mile Beach and while we have had a few come and go, the ones who have been with me a long time are cherished staff.

“My life partner Tegan (Keys) is my rock and I love her to bits and she is the one who helps me steady the ship if it goes off course.”

“Tegan’s Dad, John Keys, moved mountains to help us acquire this training complex and for that Tegan and I will be eternally grateful.

“My children are also a driving force behind me and they too help to keep me balanced.”

“The horses will come and go but family is forever.”

Brunton says Hellova Street was the catalyst on which he built a reputation interstate and he has renamed his training complex Hellova Stables in honour of his warhorse that topped $1 million in career stake earnings last season.

Now he has a new bright light coming through in The Inevitable that will embark on a Sydney campaign that will hopefully culminate in a start in the inaugural $7.5 million Golden Eagle at Rosehill in Sydney on the first Saturday in November.

“The Inevitable is a very good horse and hopefully he gets to show everyone how good he is in Sydney.”

Brunton also expects Mandela Effect to make an impact when he resumes racing in feature races in Victoria this season.

A MUSTERING MARE

Story & Photography by Sue Streit

Owned and bred by well known Tasmanian identity RJ Foster, Lola Belle was born in 2005 and was guided through her racing career at Gary White's stables.

By Planchet, a sire standing in South Australia, her dam is Light Of My Life (by Fearless Pride). Light Of My Life graced the track on 45 occasions for nine wins and 15 places, setting her up to have a career as a broodmare.

After 15 starts Lola Belle had notched up one win, so retirement to recreation became her destiny.

Post racing she resided in a paddock for a few years but she had been etched in the mind of farrier Roderick Lefevre who loved her temperament and knew she would be a fabulous mount for his mother, Judi Lefevre.

Once she moved to Judi's property she had a few unavoidable issues taking a couple of years to resolve, after which she embarked on her camp drafting career. Steering cattle around obstacles proved to be her forte as she won top scoring Thoroughbred in 2016 (her first season) and Top Scoring OTT in 2018.

While Lola has competed in show jumping, mustering sheep or cattle, as well as camp drafting are this pair's preferred activities. They help out with serious mustering on large properties such as Clairveaux, Redside and Cleveland which also includes Victoria Valley.

... the saddle Judi had made in Queensland for Lola.

As far as show jumping goes, Judi and Lola competed in the Australian Masters Games in 2017. Judi laughed about the fact they didn't do very well, but it was great fun.

Judi was blessed with a father who was a horseman in the mid 1900's. In those days there were some wild horses that roamed the country around Yolla. When breakers were needed he would muster these horses into makeshift yards and pick what was required.

In the 1930's he would ride from Wynyard to Burnie to compete in the show jumping at the Burnie show.

Judi learned her horse skills from her father which enabled her to start pony club at aged 5 in 1965. That was the beginning of a strong association with pony club at various levels right through until 2004.

Once she finished as a junior she became a coach and eventually the state chief instructor taking Tasmania to compete successfully on the mainland. As Judi especially loves working with children, she was also the state examiner for the pony club A and B tests.

In the 70's and 80's particularly, Judi was competing in eventing at intermediate level and B grade show jumping.

Both her sons are farriers and keen riders. Geoff is now working on a property in Queensland but Roderick is in Tasmania and is well known as a farrier in the racing industry.

Judi, Roderick and Geoff have always had OTT's. Roderick's first horse at age three, was a Swallowtail son, Gemtail. This horse was truly a "gem" and taught many children to ride over many years

Their two best known OTT's in the competition world would be Shatterproof and Dapper Duke (competing as Mister Wendel). The latter paired with Roderick to gain third in the 2001 Australian show jumping championships.

Among their thoroughbred OTT's is also one lovely Standardbred they cannot bear to part with! Its pretty certain that the Lefevre's life-long commitment to off the track horses is not going to change any time soon.

ELWICK TRACK REDEVELOPMENT

PROGRESS UPDATE

WORKS on the upgrade of the Elwick thoroughbred track continued uninterrupted during August and September with the project on target for completion in time for racing in late January 2020.

A group of 20 full-time project personnel have ensured the project stays on time and budget with an additional 50 part-time personnel contributing to the track rebuild.

Sub-track profile works including the new stormwater connector mains and pits are installed and are fully operational.

All cross-track drainage is complete and operational with recent rain events demonstrating that the new race track stormwater re-use irrigation system is functioning as planned.

Project partner StrathAyr have ensured that the highest quality of materials available have been utilised during project construction, with wholesale harvesting and washing of the new turf underway at their Coal River Valley farm.

The installation of the new track sub-surface profiles and perimeter security fencing has continued sequentially around the track.

The new Toro thoroughbred racetrack irrigation system is in full operation and irrigating the new turf as it is laid.

Approximately 20,000 square metres of new turf has now been installed and is growing and bedding in at an excellent rate thanks to ideal weather conditions.

TASMANIAN SUMMER FEATURE RACES

PROGRAMME NOTES

The Tasmanian Summer Racing Carnival shapes differently for the 2020 season but will once again provide excellent opportunities for participants through the feature summer racing period.

The 2019/2020 summer racing carnival race dates have changed significantly this year with the redevelopment of the Hobart track transferring many feature races to Launceston. Racing returns to Ladbrokes Park Elwick on Friday 31st January with this meeting not only showcasing the new track but also the 3YO $150k Listed Tasmanian Derby.

Feature races affected by the Hobart redevelopment during this time will revert to Launceston on the grass, with the Listed $100k Tasmanian Stakes, Listed $100k Tasmanian Guineas, $30k Brighton Cup, $30k Winzenburg, $30k 3YO Vase, $30k Alexandra Plate, $50k Sky Stakes and Listed $100k Elwick Stakes all rescheduled throughout this carnival.

Hobart Cup Day on Sunday February 9th headlines not only the Group 3 $250k Hobart Cup but other feature events such as, the $100k Listed Thomas Lyons, $100k Listed Strutt Stakes for 3YO Fillies and the Group 3 $150k Bow Mistress for Fillies and Mares. This showcases a fantastic day of racing.

Throughout this grid Tasracing has rescheduled feature events to coincide with dates and venues to give all horses a clear path of progression. Benchmarks which were previously raised in rating and weight will continue throughout the December to March grid.

Magic Millions remains on Oaks Day, Sunday 23rd February, with the meeting set to be run in a twilight timeslot.

LEGENDARY BEGINS WITH A LITTLE MAGIC

Start your magical journey at the 2020 Magic Millions Tasmanian Yearling Sale

WILL 2020 BE THE START OF YOUR MAGICAL JOURNEY ?

The Tasmanian Magic Millions sale has a reputation of being one of Australia's best value sales. This value has been further highlighted in recent times by the feats of 2017 graduate and star mare Mystic Journey earning over $3.5M from an $11,000 purchase price. When reviewing the top prizemoney earners per year since 2014, the value of the sale is further strengthened.

2018: MYSTICAL PURSUIT

Tasmanian 2YO of the Year for 2018/19 and a $\frac{3}{4}$ sister to Mystic Journey, Mystical Pursuit currently leads the leading prizemoney for graduates of the 2018 sale. By Needs Further x Oh So Gold, the filly went undefeated in Tasmania as a 2YO. From a \$28,000 purchase price, she has earned connections \$207,000 from her six starts.

2017: MYSTIC JOURNEY

2018/19 Tasmanian Horse of the Year, Mystic Journey was the big money earner from the 2017 sale. At an $11,000 purchase price, by Tasmanian Stallion Needs Further, she has accumulated earnings of over $3.5m with feature wins in the inaugural All-Star Mile and Group 1 Australian Guineas at Flemington.

2016: MANDELA EFFECT

Promising 5yo gelding Mandela Effect looks like a star in the making. He currently tops the leading prizemoney for graduates of the 2016 sale. Purchased and now trained by Brunton Racing, the gelding by Turffontein x Morell was snapped up for $18,000 and has earned connections just under $240,000.

2015: EASTENDER

In 2015, Star Thoroughbreds would spend just $22,000 for a then colt by Tickets from the mare Cougar Alley. The gelding named Eastender would win the Devonport, Hobart and Launceston Cups in 2019 and earned connections over $550,000.

2014: PALENTINO

Up until Mystic Journey, the top prizemoney earner since 2014 from the Tasmanian sale, was multiple Group 1 winner Palentino. The colt by Teofilo (IRE) x Palatine Hill would go on to win the Group 1 Australian Guineas and Makybe Diva Stakes, collecting $1.3 million in prizemoney from his $85,000 price tag.
